PATROL CHECKING ON VIOLATIONS OF "GAS" TAX EVASION

Officers Are Working in Plain
Clothes Throughout
The State

HEARING TO BE HERE

Will Not Reveal Name of Man
To Be Placed On Trial
Here

(By I. N. S.)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 20.—Working in plain clothes, state highway patrolmen are engaged in an extensive state-wide campaign to tighten up the collections of the state gasoline tax which nets $3,000,000 a month, it was learned today.

Evasions are being ferreted out and action, both civil and criminal, is to be taken.

Auditors are working along with the patrolmen to speed the drive, according to Deputy Secretary of Revenue Clyde Schaeffer. Results already have been reported from the drive. In Warren county, two distributors were sentenced to four months in jail and fined $2,000 each on their guilty plea to operating as liquid fuel distributors without a permit.

A refining company, Schaeffer said he was informed, was fined $25 for attempting to transfer its license to the H. W. O. men. Civil actions are to follow, he added.

Another retail, unlicensed dealer was to be given a hearing at Bristol. Schaeffer would not reveal the man's name, pending outcome of the case.

REPUBLICAN CHOSEN

Milford, Mar. 20.—Ralph E. Kelder, Republican, today was elected State Representative from Pike County, succeeding the late Edward L. Labar, Democrat, who died one month after taking the oath of office for his fifth term on January 1st.

Kelder, a former postmaster of Matamoras, received 2031 votes in yesterday's special election. His Democratic opponent, Joseph H. Vogt, of Shohola, received 1990 votes.

Pike County had sent a Democratic representative to the lower house for the last 15 years. G. O. P. leaders today hailed the victory as the "first straw in the wind" of public sentiment since Governor George H. Earle assumed office.

TREND BACK TO G. O. P.

Harrisburg, Mar. 20.—Election of a Republican to the House of Representatives in Pike County's special election was hailed today by Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor as in harmony with the trend back to the Republican party that has been inevitable ever since the new administration announced its tax program.

"This Republican victory is all the more remarkable from the fact that Pike County has sent a Democrat to the Legislature continually for years," stated Taylor in commenting on the election of Ralph Kelder, Matamoras, to succeed Edward L. Labar who died last month.

Enters Suit Asking For $2,000 Damages; Auto Crash

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 20.—Jennie P. Lanza, Trenton, N. J., has filed suit in the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks County for $2,000 damages against the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company and Herbert T. Schwartz, of Philadelphia.

The plaintiff alleges that she was operating an automobile on the Lincoln Highway, near South Langhorne, on January 22, when it collided with a car driven by Schwartz.

Men's Day Observed At The Langhorne M. E. Church

LANGHORNE, Mar. 20.—The entire community stirred with visitors and friends Sunday as the Men's Day was celebrated at the Bethlehem A. M. E. Church. All morning, afternoon and evening, the services continued and each one jammed to capacity the hall of the church. The main address of the morning was by the Rev. Elton Lindsay, Bristol. The boys choir rendered anthems.

The music for the afternoon was rendered by a choir of young men from Bristol and Langhorne. The address was by the Rev. Dr. I. N. Patterson, pastor of Mt. Pisgah A. M. E. Church, Philadelphia. His text was "And there was a man whose right hand was withered."

There was no lull or break in the day's events. The evening sermon, "The Man of the Hour," was by the Rev. W. W. Jacobs.

Alva B. Johnson, enterprising and hardworking Christian young fellow, a graduate of Morgan College, Baltimore, and a graduate student of Temple University, whose labors among the young men of Langhorne are bearing much fruit, gave a lecture on "The Challenge of Youth."

Vernon Cuffe gave a message on "It Pays To Be One's Self." Everett Robinson sang an inspiring tenor solo, and there was additional music by the young men's choir.

Inherits One-Sixth of Estate of Miss Uelhof

(Special to the Courier)

NEW YORK, Mar. 20.—The Sister of the Blessed Sacrament at Cornwells Heights inherits one-sixth of the residue of the estate of the late Miss Christina Uelhof of this city, according to the terms of the will filed for probate in Queens County Surrogate's Court.

Miss Uelhof died here February 25th, leaving an estate described formally as being "about $3,500 real property and $10,000 personal." The exact value of the Cornwells Heights bequest is unknown pending an appraisal by the New York State Transfer Tax Department.

TRENTON POLICE CHIEF AND AIDE FOUND GUILTY

Jury Returns Verdict in Malfeasance in Office Case

BAIL SET AT $17,500

TRENTON, N. J., Mar. 20.—Police Chief William P. Walter and Sergeant William J. Marren were convicted by a Mercer County jury of four women and eight men last night of malfeasance in office.

Judge Godfrey W. Schroth received the verdict at 8:40 o'clock. Upon motion of defense counsel, Kenneth J. Dawes, bail totaling $17,500, furnished by Victor Cooper, alleged prohibition beer baron, was continued. The court also consented to defer sentence to March 26.

The jury reached its verdict in three hours of deliberation. For more than an hour the decision was kept secret, while the jury had dinner served in the corridor of the Court House.

Chief Walter and Sergeant Marren displayed no emotion as the forelady of the jury, Mrs. Anna Hard, pronounced the verdict.

"We find both defendants guilty as charged in the first count of the indictment."

The count on which the police officials were convicted charged malfeasance in office in that they permitted the operation of number lotteries. The police chief and the head of his number racket squad face maximum penalties of three years in prison, with or without hard labor, at the discretion of the judge, or $1,000 fine, or both.

With the conviction of Chief Walter and Sergeant Marren, both police officials are automatically and immediately disqualified from continuing in office, it was stated last night by Charles P. Messick, secretary of the Civil Service Commission. However, should the conviction be set aside, they would be reinstated.

Yardley School Paper Is Entered in Competition

BETHLEHEM, Mar. 20.—"The Tatler", student publication of Yardley High School, Yardley, today entered the competition being conducted in connection with the second annual Lehigh Scholastic Press conference, to be held Saturday, May 11, at Lehigh University.

The Yardley paper is entered in a class consisting of schools which publish only mimeograph papers. The competition is limited to high schools and preparatory schools in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Approximately 800 schools have been invited to participate.

Eighteen bronze plaques will be awarded to the outstanding newspapers and magazines in nine classifications. In addition to the plaques, certificates of honorable mention will be given to deserving publications. Practicing newspaper men in Allentown and Bethlehem will judge the entries.

The tentative program for the conference consists of a tour of the campus, a morning session, luncheon, a round table conference, and a closing session.

Talented Group Will Give A Recital at Langhorne

LANGHORNE, Mar. 20.—There is unusual interest and anticipation among members of Bethlehem A. M. E. Church, concerning the recital for tomorrow night.

Miss Bernetta Jefferson, talented daughter of Dr. Jefferson, of Haven M. E. Church, Philadelphia, will give one of her excellent dramatic readings. Miss Jefferson is a graduate of Morgan College, Baltimore, Md., where she received many citations on her beautiful dramatic renditions.

Another feature will be Miss Beatrice Polk, soprano soloist from Philadelphia. Miss Lois Williams will accompany Miss Polk, and also give piano selections.

Eli Barrett, leader of class number two, responsible for this recital, was more than pleased at the co-operation heard again to 350 degrees.

SOCIAL TOMORROW NIGHT

Fidelity Council, No. 21, F. P. A., will have a social evening tomorrow night and all members of the organization are requested to attend. Refreshments will be served.

AWAKE OR ASLEEP

The Commercial Bulletin

"Hurry! Get up! The house is afire." If you were summoned by these words would you try to save yourself and your property from burning, or would you go to sleep after remarking that everything is covered by insurance?

Some people are such incurable optimists that they can not believe that a great danger threatens them. Such a man was Johnny Lepine, for when a man ran to tell him that his store was afire he replied: "It can not be. I have the key in my pocket." In a similar mental condition was the man who when told that the steamer on which he was a passenger was sinking answered: "No matter. I don't own it."

While one man talked his shop was burning. While the other talked the ship was sinking. While these lines are being read your property is being destroyed by politicians in Washington. Perhaps you think it is not your shop, your steamer or your property that is being destroyed, but if you are the owner of any investments it is hardly possible that some of them will not be harmed, if not made worthless, by the fierce war that is being waged against electric power companies in Washington today.

From the beginning of the business and financial depression in 1929 until March 1933, bonds and stocks of electric power companies stood up much better than the average of securities listed on the stock exchanges, but it soon became manifest that the present administration was hostile to power companies and desirous of replacing them by power plants owned or operated by the government.

It is undeniably true that a few unscrupulous or reckless men obtained control of certain holding companies, owning electric light and power companies, and sold securities based upon these properties at prices that were unjustified even in boom days. From 1929 to 1933 some of these bonds dropped 90 per cent in market price, and stocks of the same companies became valueless. The men who were responsible for the issue of these securities, or insecurities, at inflated prices from 1927 to 1929 may be called robbers or gamblers. They may have honestly believed that expansion of business would continue, and that the issue price of their bonds and stocks would be justified by earnings of the corporations.

Whether these men were thieves or honest men, it is abominably unfair to execute vengeance upon an entire industry because of the misdeeds of a very few of the men prominent in management of the great power companies of our country.

The establishment of the Tennessee Valley Authority was one of the early achievements of the "new deal," and it was announced in Washington that the government was to compete with privately owned corporations in furnishing power to consumers. A little later came the report that the government was prepared to lend money to cities or towns to build their own power plants or distributing lines.

It was alleged, but not proved, that charges for electric power were too high. The government was prepared to undertake the establishment of power plants in all parts of the country to compete with existing companies, and no manager of a power company could feel free from the danger of competition by a government power plant, paying no taxes and able to drive the old company into bankruptcy by service at less than cost.

The effect of government action and government threats was manifest in quotations of stocks on the exchanges. Stocks of power companies that had withstood the weight of business depression were crushed by the onslaught of politicians in Washington. At the close of 1934 industrial and railroad stocks had risen respectively 152% and 175% from their lowest averages in 1932, but public utility stocks were selling at the lowest level since 1929.

A bill has been offered in Congress proposing to abolish public utility holding companies and to place operating companies under federal regulation. The 178 printed pages of the bill leave little doubt that the purpose of the bill is not regulation but destruction of power companies, or their conversion to government properties.

Complaint is made in Washington that officers of power companies are spreading propaganda in defense of their companies. It could hardly be expected that men should offer no resistance to the destruction of properties that have cost them many years of toil and the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars by the stockholders.

It is fair to the administration in Washington and to Congressmen who favor the bill (H.R. 5423) to say that they may be entirely sincere in the belief that the bill will be beneficial to the nation, but if enacted it would be as harmful to the power companies as if their properties had been bombed by a foreign foe.

If you own securities of a power company, or if you believe in fair play for owners of power companies as guaranteed all citizens by the Constitution of the United States, it is your house that is afire, and the bill attacking power companies may become a law of our country. Are you awake or do you rely on the insurance company to protect you and your property?

MEN OF CHURCH ENJOY A FELLOWSHIP SUPPER

Seventy-Five Gather For Function at Grace Church in Hulmeville

SPEECHES, MUSIC, ETC.

HULMEVILLE, Mar. 20.—Seventy-five men and older boys of Grace Episcopal Church participated in a fellowship supper in the parish house, last evening, the function being under the auspices of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

The toastmaster was William A. Thomas, Langhorne; and the address of the evening was made by Robert C. Belleville, 3rd, accounting warden of St. Andrew's Church, Yardley. Mr. Belleville stressed the fact that in the modern state where there is a growing tendency to equalize economic and social opportunities for the populace, there must also be equality of moral responsibility. "Every citizen therefore owes it to support such organizations as advance the moral and social standards, but especially should each person add his influence to further the work of the Church. For all the agencies derive their inspiration from it. The Church is the oldest of organizations; it has made mistakes and learned by them; it has been studying human beings for longest; it has the message that comes closest to human hopes and ideals. Without the Church to support the moral standards, no programs legislated to meet economic or social problems can succeed."

Thomas B. Longhurst explained the details of the Federal Housing Act as they affect the home owner. He stated that plans are ready to place a corps of enumerators in Bucks County to

WILL SUGGEST PUBLIC HUNTING GROUNDS IN PA.

Major Nicholas Biddle, Jenkintown, Also Advocates
Strict Regulation

ADDRESSES 500 MEN

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 20.—In his first public address since he was appointed to the Pennsylvania State Game Commission, Major Nicholas Biddle, of Jenkintown, who is slated for chairman of the Commission, announced here last night that he will suggest to the Commission that Pennsylvania establish public hunting grounds with strict regulations that would prosecute violators of the game laws in a most stringent manner.

Major Biddle addressed 500 men and women from every section of Bucks county, including landowners, well known sportsmen and farmers. The meeting was sponsored by the Doylestown District Democratic Club.

Although Major Biddle's suggestion of public hunting grounds established by the State on land leased from the farmers, met with the approval of the majority of his listeners, there was considerable opposition.

At the present time, Major Biddle explained, there are several large tracts in the Keystone State, in the central and northern portions, set aside for hunting purposes, and in the center of each tract is a game refuge. But they do not take care of the 65,000 hunters who come into Bucks and adjoining counties annually from Philadelphia and New Jersey points only to be faced with "No Gunning Allowed" signs on 95 per cent of the land which is posted.

"It will be my plan to suggest to

Doylestown Council Wants To Rent A Jail

DOYLESTOWN: Mar. 20.—Members of Doylestown Borough Council have gone lockup shopping!

The town is badly in need of a lock-up since the Bucks County Prison can no longer be used by "over-nighters" and those who come in contact with the law locally. Council wants a suitable "bunk house" for "knights of the road," and wants one quickly.

Safe concrete cellars in centrally-located business places are being viewed by Council today in an effort to find a suitable place that can be partitioned off with a cell room. They do not want to go to the expense of building a borough jail, but they are willing to rent at this time.

BRACKEN POST WILL FORM JUNIOR BALL NINE

Decides to Put Boys' Team in Bucks-Montgomery
League Circuit

TO DISTRIBUTE BOOKS

New activities were planned last night at an interesting meeting of Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion. The meeting was attended by 40 members of the Post and many subjects of interest to the organization were discussed pro and con.

It was definitely decided that the Post should put a junior baseball team in the field. This team will be affiliated with the Bucks-Montgomery County League of Junior Teams and a schedule arranged. The age limit is 17.

Robert Hems was named chairman of the baseball committee and will arrange to conduct a series of trials and practice games just as soon as possible.

The Post also decided to distribute free copies of six booklets to the schools of Bristol and Lower Bucks County. These booklets contain the story of the Constitution of the United States, the Flag, George Washington, first president; Framing of the Declaration of Independence, Life of Benjamin Franklin and Life of Abraham Lincoln.

Joseph Schreiber is heading this committee.

A letter and telegram were read from Congressman Oliver W. Frey in which he pledged himself to support the bonus to the fullest extent.

A pinocle tournament will be played between Bristol and Borden-town in Bracken Post Home on March 30th.

At the meeting of the Post to be held April 2nd, the speaker will be "Al" Hermann, Deputy Comptroller of Philadelphia and Past National President of United States Ambulance Corps.

Fleece Business Men With Bogus $20 Bills

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 20.—Two Doylestown business men were fleeced out of almost $40 yesterday when strangers came into their stores and passed off bogus $20 bills. At one place the man bought merchandise valued at $2 and was given $18 change, and at the other place an $5 cent purchase was made and the visitor given $19.15 change.

Trenton Adopts New Form of City Government

TRENTON, N. J., Mar. 20.—By an impressive plurality of 6,947, Trenton adopted the city manager form of government at yesterday's special election.

Every ward but one—which singularly returned a tie vote—was carried by the city manager advocates who brought to a close the 24-year reign of the commission form of government, whose five representatives had lost public confidence.

The complete vote from Trenton's 82 election districts gave: For adoption, 18,623; against adoption, 11,676. All of the 14 wards, except the 4th, swung into line for the change. There the vote stood a tie at 583 for and against.

For a strictly municipal election the vote was unprecedented. It reached the astonishing total of 20,299. No better testimonial could be given of the interest the town has in its government.

Customarily in municipal elections, a vote of 16,000 to 17,000 is tops. Yesterday's outpouring of voters, undeterred by nasty weather, represented almost as many ballots as were cast in the gubernatorial and senatorial general elections last November.

PINOCLE TOURNAMENT

Entries will be received at the K. of C. home for the pinocle tournament or they will be received by any member of the organization. The rules will be announced at a later date.

MOVES IN EUROPE

Acting in concert following definite word from Washington that the United States would keep its hands off what it deemed a purely European problem, Britain, France and Italy arranged for a tri-party conference today as France protested to Berlin over Chancellor Hitler's conscription decree. Developments in leading capitals:

Paris—France decided to appeal to the League of Nations and to strengthen her bond with Soviet Russia, as a note of protest over Reich re-armament was drafted and arrangements concluded for a meeting with Britain and Italy on Monday.

London—Captain Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal was nominated to represent Britain at the conference which will precede Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon's Berlin visit.

Geneva—Roumanian Foreign Minister Titulescu was enroute to Geneva carrying a message reporting the threatened immediate re-armament by the Little Entente if Hungary revives conscription.

FRANCE APPEALS TO LEAGUE

By William Parker
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Paris, France, Mar. 20.—Seeking universal European condemnation of Germany over Chancellor Hitler's decree re-establishing compulsory military service, France today decided to appeal to the League of Nations, drafted a sharp note of protest to Berlin, arranged for a tri-partite international consultation and strengthened her relations with Soviet-Russia. These four momentous steps, exceeding in every respect the mild action undertaken by Great Britain following announcement of the French Conscription of Ministers. They were announced early this afternoon in an official communication which was followed by a statement from the Foreign Office to the effect British, French and Italian statesmen would meet here on Saturday to thrash out the problem. This meeting is regarded as of the greatest significance as it will take place immediately before Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary is due to start for Berlin for his long delayed conference with Chancellor Hitler.

France's League action means, according to governmental sources, that an extra-ordinary convocation of the League Council, to sit as a Tribunal to judge Germany's infraction of the Versailles Treaty, will be requested.

POSTMASTERSHIP IS CAUSE OF RIFT AT CORNWELLS HEIGHTS

Dr. John H. Flood, County
Democratic Chairman,
Taken to Task

HUGHES LEADS FIGHT

Dr. Flood Questioned Pointedly at Meeting Held at
His Suggestion

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Mar. 20.—A meeting was held here Sunday afternoon in the fire station of the Union Fire Company, State Road, where issue was taken over the removal of Charles B. Gilbert, who has been acting postmaster here since January 15th, last year.

Gilbert was at that time named acting postmaster, replacing Ralph Simons, who was the Republican incumbent for a number of years.

Gilbert according to Hughes is to be replaced by John Barron, member of the Democratic committee from this district.

The threatened displacement of Gilbert has stirred up a hornet's nest in Democratic politics in this section. Two distinct factions are drawn up in battle formation, one faction is fighting the Gilbert removal, while another is urging his replacement. It is a contest between Dr. John A. Flood and the anti-Flood followers. Many resent the dictatorial methods of Flood since he has assumed the leadership of the Democratic party in Bucks County. Democrats of Cornwells Heights and Bensalem Township have on their battle armaments, and say they are ready to go to the mat with Dr. Flood over the postmastership issue.

H. Lincoln Hughes is leading the anti-Flood group, and called the protest meeting which was held here Sunday. Today Mr. Hughes gave his version of the meeting:

"Dr. John A. Flood, Democratic county chairman, was present, having been invited by me. I had previously obtained the signatures of 400 voters to a petition in behalf of Mr. Gilbert. I opened the meeting, introducing Dr. Flood, and after explaining the purpose of the meeting I asked Dr. Flood to explain a few facts as to why Gilbert was to be removed as postmaster here."

Hughes states that he had been warned not to call this protest meeting "as the people who attended might be sorry owing to the facts which Dr. Flood possessed against the record of Gilbert as acting postmaster."

Hughes in his resume of what occurred at the meeting Sunday, continued by stating "Dr. Flood read a letter addressed to him by W. W. Howe, second assistant to the postmaster general at Washington. The letter was six months old and stated 'that it might be wise to have in mind another man to take the postoffice on account of certain irregularities.'"

"At this point Hughes questioned Flood as to what these 'irregularities' were, to which Dr. Flood, according to Hughes, replied 'I do not know.'"

Hughes pointedly asked Dr. Flood if he was not throwing a bluff, thinking that he (Hughes) would be afraid to call the meeting. To this Dr. Flood replied according to Hughes that he had read off just what Washington had given him.

Hughes asked Dr. Flood who it was who had had Charles Gilbert appointed as acting postmaster, and the Democratic chairman is reported to have taken credit for the appointment. Hughes at this point came back at Dr. Flood by asking him when he was elected county chairman. Dr. Flood replied, "About August, 1934." Hughes then asked "Do you know what time Gilbert was appointed acting postmaster of Cornwells Heights?" Dr. Flood replied he did not know exactly, to which Hughes replied, "For your information Gilbert received the acting postmastership appointment January 15, 1934, which was approximately six or seven months before you were elected county chairman." Dr.

FOR THE BIG PARADE

Out in the state of Washington, they are considering a proposal to put all public employees in uniform. Under it, there might be an extension of the copper's blue and the street-cleaner's white to a nice pink for charwomen, a striking purple for garbage removers, a beautiful yellow for tax collectors and so on, with robes of ermine for those who sit in high places. At least it could work out that way, though details beyond the point of neatness and appropriateness are left to the future.

The Washington idea seems to be that it would be a right handy thing for the passerby to know his servant superior when he meets him. There is the thought, too, that uniforms will "offer public employees a better opportunity to provide courteous and faithful public service—to set an example for character, poise and neatness." And visitors to the state will know whom to approach for information concerning anything pertaining to the state, from the amount of snow on Mt. Rainier to the location of the hottest night club in town.

Incidentally, it occurs to us that there is another valuable point in this suggestion of uniformed public employees: Because of the big parade, every taxpayer would become immediately conscious of the extent to which the government of the free has grown in recent years. It might be quite a shock to him to have such visible evidence paraded before him—providing his sensitive nose did not become ultimately dulled by the sight.

BOYS' POCKETS UNCHANGED

In an upside world, in which old standards are abolished nightly by some new Messiah with a microphone, it is pleasing to realize that one great American institution does not change greatly with the years. An examination of the contents of the pockets of 32 boys, selected at random at the Madison Square Boys' Club of New York, revealed the following inventory:

Ends of pencils, broken penholders, rubber daggers, old movie programs, empty boxes, Christmas seals, bits of colored and broken glass, ends of string and rope, buttons, whistles, candy, pieces of chalk, a total of 59 cents and 25 handkerchiefs and a great miscellany of articles of which only one was found, including a sock.

While no sociological conclusion was looked for or established by the survey, it is nonetheless an assurance that human nature in one of its aspects stands like a rock. Man or boy, the run of us are gatherers of things laid away against the day when they will "come in handy." That they rarely do only suggests how strongly instinct works in the human animal.

Only the most emancipated among us refuse to be slaves to property, if not of ends of strings and buttons, then of more imposing litter that may even run into important money and earn an occasional one among us the name of being a Great Collector.

Housewives are reported changing their buying habits to meet rising costs. And some of them are just giving them up.

GOOD NEWS travels fast!

BAD NEWS used to have the reputation for speed.

But such is the demand for the good things of life today that good news travels even faster.

The carriers of many of the good tidings that every one is eager to hear are right before you. They are the advertisements in this newspaper. They bring good news about soap and cereals, sedans and cigarettes. Good news for the housewife. Good news for the business man. Good news for every one who believes in comfort and happiness.

Let an automobile maker in Detroit or an orange grower in Florida develop a finer product. You will hear about it—not in a couple of years, not just "some time." The whole new story will be rushed to you on the wings of the greatest good-news service in the world—advertising.

Advertisements are filled with the kind of good words you like to find. They tell you of new products, new improvements in well-known merchandise, new values and new ways to increase your well-being. And always they tell you not only where and how to purchase goods of assured merit, but also the way to be certain of obtaining 100 cents' worth of value for every dollar you spend. Read them—and get their good news regularly!

Editor Courier:

Your paper has stood so consistently for fair play in your community I am asking for a little space to set forth a grievance. When I voted last Fall it was with the hope that taxes would be reduced and the welfare of the common man considered at Harrisburg. But when I read in the newspapers that two bills—Nos. 79 and 840—have been introduced at Harrisburg which would add heavy burdens to me as an insurance policyholder, or entirely wipe out the Mutual Insurance Company with which I do business, then I am convinced that nothing has been accomplished for my benefit.

From the press reports I gather although I have not seen the bills, that if this legislation is enacted, the legal reserve for claims required of Mutuals would be doubled. Suppose you, as a publisher, were required over night to double the reserve in your business. Could you do it? Of course not. Reserves are not set up that way. The result would be that if Mutual reserves are to be thus made a football of politics, then the Mutuals would have to go out of business. May be you do not know it, but there are 260 such in Pennsylvania, doing a business annually of more than fifty millions, and they employ thousands of people and they give cheap protection to other thousands. Why wipe them out, I ask.

The other bill is almost as oppressive. It would add heavily to the tax burdens and so run up rates on farmers, little businessmen and us who own small cars and must have cheap insurance.

Yours for Fair Play,
DANIEL M. MYERS,
515 Radcliffe Street,
Bristol, Pa.

Flood made no reply. "We will give you credit for the appointment, however," said Hughes, "but don't you think that if the man was good enough to be appointed, you should interest yourself to find out why he is to be relieved of his office?" Flood replied, "He looked good to me at that time."

At this point Hughes presented Dr. Flood with a petition bearing the names of 400 citizens and voters of Cornwells Heights. After Dr. Flood had examined the petition, Chairman Hughes asked him what he thought of it, to which Dr. Flood is reported to have replied, "It doesn't mean a thing to me, the matter lays in the hands of Congressman Oliver W. Frey."

"Are you positive that the matter does lie in the hands of Congressman Frey?" asked Hughes, to which question Dr. Flood is said to have answered, "Positively it is."

At this point Hughes again took issue with the Democratic chairman when he handed to him a letter which he had received from Congressman Frey, dated February 15, 1935, and written from Washington in answer to a letter Hughes had written Congressman Frey, protesting the removal of Gilbert. In this letter the Congressman told Hughes that he appreciated the interest Hughes had taken in this case, but that the matter laid in the hands of Dr. John A. Flood, chairman of Bucks County Democratic committee. This brought a hot retort from Dr. Flood who said with emphasis, "No one is going to dump anything in my lap."

Hughes asked Dr. Flood, "Do you think that a man of the type of Charles Gilbert who has been a Democratic voter for the past 40 years, a native, and a resident in Cornwells Heights for 57 years, who had been out of employment for two years prior to having received his appointment as acting postmaster, and was in such financial circumstances that he was threatened with the loss of his home, should be removed from his position and replaced by a man who has been employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for the past 17 or 18 years and who is receiving a living wage, and who by accepting the position of acting postmaster would cause Gilbert to possibly seek the aid of the relief?" Flood tersely replied, "That is Gilbert's fault and not mine."

Mrs. Penn Salmon arose and queried Dr. Flood why he had told Mr. Hughes to call the meeting, stating that he would be glad to come to Cornwells and place the facts before the people, and then be unable to do so. Hughes asked Flood why Gilbert had been appointed postmaster six months before Flood was made chairman of the Democratic party in Bucks County, to which Dr. Flood made no reply.

Mrs. Salmon, addressing the meeting, stated that Flood came to political meetings before election, and pleaded for the support of the people, promising that if the Democratic party was successful it would be the best thing for the people, and that the voters would have a "say," which "had been denied them for over 40 years." Dr. Flood replied, stating "We have shown the people what we have done in the last two years." At this point Hughes again took issue with Dr. Flood, saying "You are right to a certain extent, but when you refuse to recognize a petition of over 400 voters then you're word is not as good as your bond."

Robert O'Neill said that after an hour and a half he was unable to learn why Dr. Flood had suggested that a meeting be held. Then according to Hughes Dr. Flood said that the petition didn't mean anything to him. "The people are not telling me what to do. As chairman of the county committee I will tell them what to do," Flood is alleged to have said.

"Will you feel that way at the next election?" Mrs. Salmon is said to have asked the Democratic chairman. No reply was forthcoming.

The meeting evidently wound up in a display of political pyrotechnics, when Hughes asked the county chairman if it was not a fact "if Gilbert had made a donation to the campaign committee at the last election that there would be no thought of removing him from office?" Dr. Flood, much agitated and impatient at the bombast of questions to which he had been subjected, heatedly exclaimed, "Did anyone ask Gilbert for a contribution?" "They didn't," fired back Hughes. "And the reason is because the committee, including you, and John Montgomery, chairman of Bensalem Township Democratic committee, didn't have courage enough and couldn't find anyone else who would ask Gilbert for a contribution. The position of postmaster is supposed to be non-political, but Gilbert should have sense enough to chip in without being asked."

Roscoe Perkins, a Republican, who attended the meeting, arose and proclaimed himself, saying "It is a rotten mess, and it seems to me that when Dr. Flood will not help straighten it out, that I want nothing to do with the Democratic party."

THE ANSWER

Today, when so many questions are being asked about everything, the answer to a query about the cost of electricity in the home may be pertinent.

The average price paid by the domestic customer in the United States in 1934 was 27.4 per cent less than the average rate 10 years ago.

The average price paid by the domestic customer of the Philadelphia Electric Company in 1934 was 31.8 per cent less than the average rate 10 years ago.

Since 1913 the cost of electricity in the homes of the country has declined 39 per cent although the general cost of living remains 37 per cent above the 1913 level.

This is indisputable evidence that the industry has been well managed, and that its customers have shared in the economies it has made.

TELLS SPORTSMEN HERE ABOUT BIG GAME HUNTING

Walter S. Marter, big game hunter of Edgewater Park, N. J., held members of the Bristol Fish and Game Association enthralled last night at a meeting in the Elks' hall with his experiences while on a three months' trip through the wilds of Alaska.

Mr. Marter and his party hunted big game and brought home a car load of trophies; also took moving pictures of the happenings, and the scenery on the trip. Sixteen hundred feet of film were shown last night by Theodore Megargee.

The meeting was presided over by Frank Pfeiffer, president of the association, who announced that other interesting speakers would be here in the future to talk to the members.

TO ASK MORE RELIEF

Harrisburg, Mar. 20.—Summoned by Federal authorities, Governor George H. Earle today planned a trip to Washington next month to plead for continued Federal relief assistance on the grounds his administration is exerting every effort to raise state funds.

He was asked to come to Washington by Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Relief Administrator, to explain "what steps Pennsylvania is taking to pay its fair share of the relief burden."

The Federal government has carried Pennsylvania's entire relief load since February, and money is available now only until the end of this month.

TO END SCHOOL STRIKE

Wilkes-Barre, Mar. 20.—Moving to end the strike of several hundred pupils at the G. A. R. High and Danna grade schools, school authorities today served notice that prosecution under the school code will be brought against parents of students who absent themselves more than three days without just cause.

The strike was called in protest to the imprisonment of two former students charged with vandalism in connection with the strike of the United Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania, an insurgent union.

Will Suggest Public Hunting Grounds In Pa.

the Game Commission at their first meeting, to lease from Bucks county farmers, and farmers in other sections of the state, portions of their land for public hunting at a nominal cost per acre to the state," Major Biddle explained.

"The land will be stocked with game by the State and a certain portion surrounding the farm properties will be staked off in a safety zone, the interior of which will also be a game refuge. Hunters who enter the restricted area which surrounds the farm home and buildings will be liable to prosecution.

"In this way the city residents as well as those who live in the country will be provided with public hunting grounds and at the same time the farmer will be amply protected."

The meeting was presided over by Charles Wellington Wessell, of Doylestown township, owner of "Bird-haven Game Farms". The chairman was complimented by several speakers, including George McReynolds, a charter member of the Bucks County Fish, Game and Forestry Association, and by Charles Rowe, of Doylestown, president of the Associated Sportsmen's Club of Bucks county, for his untiring efforts in behalf of game propagation and his work as a game expert.

WRIGHT WILL ATTEMPT TO SQUELCH EMIL IN RING

TRENTON, Mar. 20.—It's now up to Rube Wright to see what can be done about removing part of the Dusek disturbance from the local wrestling scene.

Wright will attempt to squelch Emil, one of the four burly brothers from Omaha, tonight at the Arena. The big Californian will do the fans as well as himself a great favor if he puts the damper on the rowdy Nebraskan.

Dusek has been having a nice time of things and has been a constant source of annoyance to top-line grapplers and local mat fans for some time. His "off-color" tricks and unethical actions have made him a real villain in the eyes of the fans.

Both are slam-bang grapplers, believing a smashing offensive can do more damage than anything else. Whatever the fans may say or do will have no effect on Dusek, who has an utter disregard for rules, regulations or rosters in his efforts to win. Wright's ability to absorb punishment may give Emil something more than he bargained for, as the big Californian knows that if he pins Emil Dusek he will be ranked with the front rank of contenders.

912 POND STREET

This will be the first time that these two young wildcats have met and one of the best bouts ever contested at the Stockton street cockpit is expected when the bell sounds to send them into action.

A special attraction will pit Joey Dusek, youngest member of the famous grappling family against the vaunted Hungarian, Sandor Szabo. Other bouts bring together rowdy John Katan against the equally rowdy John Swenski and popular Andy Rascer opposed to the huge Irisama n. Pat McClary.

SPIRITED HER AWAY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(INS)—Nocturnal experiments of her husband in attempting to obtain communication with the spirits drove Mrs. Helen A. Howard to the divorce court. Mrs. Howard was given her freedom from her husband when she testified that she lost sleep in her husband's attempts to get in touch with his depared ancestors. "He believed I was a spiritualist," she testified. "He kept me awake continually trying to get in touch with his ancestors. He thought I was psychic, though I never claimed to be."

Running Dizzy Dean a close race for the combined title of leading big league hurler and daffiest ball player is the gallant though goofy Castilian, Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, who elbows 'em across the platter for the Yanks in his peculiar left-handed fashion, and is just as screwy as southpaws are supposed to be.

Being left-handed gives the eccentric Caballero of the Yankees a natural advantage over Dizzy Dean in the race for daffiness laurels; but it must be admitted that the Dizzy One has proved himself to be a southpaw at heart, even if he does buzz 'em past the batter with his right paw.

Be that as it may, this man Gomez is really a great pitcher. The records are there to prove it, and they say, or rather shout, that Goofy was the most effective hurler in the junior circuit last year. He led both leagues in the won and lost averages with a record of 26 games won against only five reverses. That is quite some pitching, mah frans, as I think you will admit.

Ah, but the callant if goofy Gomez does not pride himself overly much on his pitching achievements—no, a thousand time no.

The great senior is especially proud of his batting prowess, and if you have ever lumped the estimable Gomez waving the ash menacingly at an enemy hurler, and then striking out with much pomp and ceremony, you will understand how he received the non-de-baseball of "Goofy."

Gomez is unquestionably one of the worst hitters of all time, but his failures at the plate never destroy his faith in himself as a great slugger. Lefty is even now proclaiming to the world that he discovered a secret batting formula on his Winter tour of the Orient, and insists that this will make him one of the outstanding sluggers of the league.

Enemy hurlers, beware! The great Gomez is preparing to step into the shoes of the one and only Babe Ruth. Did you say something?

—so far as we know tobacco was first used about 400 years ago

—throughout the years what one thing has given so much pleasure..so much satisfaction

It was a matter of pride with a host in Colonial days that his guests should smoke tobacco grown on his own plantation.

Today the Governor of North Carolina says to the Governor of South Carolina—
"Have a cigarette"

TODAY people all over the world use tobacco in one form or another.

They chew it, they smoke it in pipes, they smoke cigars and cigarettes, and here is what an eminent physician said about cigarettes:

"I have been something of a student of cigarettes, and it is my belief that they offer the mildest and purest form in which tobacco is used."

Yes, nowadays the cigarette is the most popular form in which tobacco is used. A good cigarette certainly gives men and women a lot of pleasure.

Have a Chesterfield—

For one thing—they're milder.

For another thing—they taste better.
